

FAQ

What is Home Sharing?

Home sharing Contractors provide a supportive living experience for adult person with developmental disabilities. AiMHi will match residents with home sharing contractors who best suit their persons needs and offer support every step of the way.

What is Contractors role?

The role of the contractor is to provide a home and support for the person. This can range from personal care and needs to welcome them as a member of your family. In some situations, members of the home spend a lot of time together and are actively involved in one another's daily activities. In other homes, the arrangement is more independent.

Who will I be matched with? Do I get a choice?

Yes you do get a choice. At AiMHi we match people and contractors based on personalities and lifestyles.

How do I get paid?

Home Share Contractors only receive payment from AiMHi once per month on the 15th of the month and it is for the full, current month.

How do I get a break?

Your contract includes funds to go towards respite. People who provide respite for you must be pre-approved by AiMHi.

What do they need?

It varies depending on the person you are placed with. They all need some level of support and supervision and may need any of the following things:

- Assisting with life skills
- Assisting with health issues
- Assisting with personal care
- Supporting community inclusion
- Supporting person to maintain, develop or strengthen their relationships with families and friends
- Supporting the person to be safe in their home and community