Services/Objective

To facilitate a family centered support system that is based upon the strength and needs of the family.

To assist individual family members with developing and maintaining a sense of responsibility, build resilience, motivation, commitment and independence.

To co-ordinate health, educational and social services within the community.

To assist families in accessing community programs, i.e., leisure, education, parenting, etc.

Philosophy

It is the philosophy of the AiMHi Family Support program that people who have special needs have the same rights, needs and feelings as others.

We provide service to families in which there is a child who has a special need or developmental disability.

We support the people with whom we work to pursue their goals for quality family life.

We facilitate a family support system that is based upon the strengths and needs of the families; assist families with developing and maintaining a sense of responsibility, motivation, commitment and independence; assist families to identify and access health, educational, leisure and social services within the community.
